

Fresh Pure Foods

Just a few Articles You Can Save Money on:

15c Raisins.....	10c
20c Can Peas.....	15c
15c Macaroni.....	10c
30c Pea Berry Coffe.....	25c
35c Can Salmon (Red).....	30c
2 10c Cans Carnation Milk.....	15c
20c Can Hominy.....	15c
3 10c Cans Stag Tobacco.....	25c
Large Writing Tablets.....	05c

SPECIAL FOR SATURDAY

8c Box Matches.....	05c
1 Can Parrot Metal Polish.....	10c
20c Boxes Post Toasties.....	17c
$3.00, 10 pound Pail Cream Coffee.....	$2 75
1 Quart Fresh Cranberries.....	15c
Fresh Pine Apple.....	15c

BOTH PHONES

CASH FOR PRODUCE.

Oregon Grocery Co.

LADIES ATTENTION

Stylish New Fall and Winter MILLINERY

of all Kinds—Viz:
Hats, Ribbons, Feathers, Flowers, Etc.,
We most cordially invite your inspection.

Mrs. E. A. Netherland
HAZEL SMITH, TRIMMER

PUBLIC SALE

—OF—
Poland-Chinas

I will sell at the Thompson Livery Barn in Mound City,
SATURDAY, OCTOBER 20, 1917

50 HEAD OF BOARS AND GILTS

Consisting of 25 Males, 5 of which are Fall Yearlings and 20 Early Springs, and 25 Gilts, consisting of 5 Fall Yearlings and 20 Springs. Most of these are sired by the two good herd headers, Joe Wonder and Black Timm, some by Hercules 2d, some by Hercules, some by Big Wonder Jumbo. The last two named are two of the best hogs at the head of one of the best herds in Iowa. This is a high class offering, and I invite everyone interested in the breeding of good hogs to attend this sale. Everything immune.

My two herd boars that have been in service, Joe Wonder and Black Timm, and also Jumbo Chief, owned jointly by myself and Hugh M. Cottier, will be on exhibition sale day. Jumbo Chief took first in his class at Lincoln, and second at Topeka and Hutchinson fairs this year.

TERMS OF SALE:—Cash or bankable note, bearing 8 per cent interest from date of sale. No stock removed until terms are complied with. Crates furnished for shipping only.

SALE TO COMMENCE AT 1 O'CLOCK.

James Kennish

COLS. HOSMER, FRIES and BABE, Auctioneers.
ALVIN NORMAN, Clerk.

Women wanted to help can Apples at canning factory.

Ladies, I have just received a shipment of the newest models in the Royal Worcester Corset. They insure a perfect fit and you will be delighted with them. Come in and see them. Handmade cards have been issued announcing the coming nuptials of Miss Edna Josephine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe E. Murray, at the Murray home, to Mr. George Martin Hanger, on Thursday, October 18, at 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

POLAND-CHINA BOARS FOR SALE
I have a few Pure Bred Boars, of Model Big Bob and "B" Wonder, Hinkle's Mogul. Call on or address, E. E. Hinkle, Oregon, Mo., Farmers' Phone.

Mrs. E. A. Roselius, of Corning, was in our city, Wednesday, visiting friends.
Pie social and box supper at the Nickell's Grove school house, Friday night, October 19th. Program will be given.
MABEL A. SMITH, Teacher.

BIGELOW AND VICINITY.

The Most Important Local Events Which Have Transpired The Past Week.

(By George A. Conaway.)

—Mrs. T. J. Bridgman was shopping in St. Joseph, last Saturday.

—Madison and Mary Overlay were Mound City visitors, last Saturday.

—Robert Brown was a business visitor in St. Joseph, one day, this week.

—Miss Gladys Worley visited with relatives and friends in Forbes, over Sunday.

—Several from here attended the picture show in Mound City, Tuesday evening.

—Mrs. Julia Jones attended the big meeting at the Fortescue tabernacle, last Sunday.

—Coke Jackson and C. C. Catron are each loading out a car load of apples, this week.

—Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Solleder were visiting with relatives in Thurman, Iowa, last Sunday.

—C. C. Catron made up a lot of cider, last week, and favored his friends with a sample.

—Chess Hitz, the big apple man, was a passenger to Glenwood, Iowa, one morning, last week.

—Mrs. F. K. Allen was down from Craig, one day, the first of the week, visiting with relatives.

—Thirty-eight scholars attended the Methodist Sunday school, last Sunday, and the collection was $1.14.

—Tom Bridgman and Supt. S. W. Skelton attended Masonic lodge in Mound City, Tuesday evening.

—Ed Preston was down from Quitman, last Sunday, visiting with home folks and renewing old acquaintances.

—A. J. Barash is here, this week, from Seattle, Wash., visiting with his sister, Mrs. Harold Kahn, and other relatives.

—Mrs. A. W. Chuning and Miss Sallie Rock were over in the Blair neighborhood, one day, the first of the week, after cabbage.

—Mrs. Ralph Lease was called to Rock Port, the latter part of last week, to see his mother, who was reported to be quite sick.

—Brother H. M. Welton, of Skidmore, will hold services at the Methodist church, next Sunday, morning and evening. Everybody invited.

—Mr. and Mrs. Guy Jones drove up to Tarkio, in their car, last Tuesday, and attended the big Rankins' stock show of thoroughbred cattle.

—W. G. (Dutch Bill) Maier shipped a car load of mules to Tarkio, last Monday. Seems like Dutch just can't stay out of the mule business.

—J. E. Slater and Robert Brown attended a meeting of the St. Joseph Lodge of Perfection, A. A. S. R., in St. Joseph, one evening, last week.

—Charley Bucholtz and wife, old former Bigelow residents, of Falls City, Neb., were over one day, the first of the week, looking after their farm interests.

—A letter from Clyde Couts, who is a member of Company L, at Fort Sill, Okla., says all the boys are getting along just fine, working hard, and getting plenty to eat.

—Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Asher were visiting with their daughter, Mrs. Lulu Book, in Napier, one day, last week. Bill says the "Mrs." has almost all of the potatoes dug.

—Ben Pete Hunt and his gang of assistants will finish baling about 1,800 tons of prairie hay for Hay King John Coughlin, from his 710 acres of grass land, this week. Ben is an old hand at the business of baling hay.

—R. W. Graham and family moved to the Conaway property, east of the track, the first of the week, and Allen Notley and wife moved to the property just south of the G. W. Poynter residence, which they purchased some time ago.

—Eddie Catron, local agent for the Chevrolet car, one day, last week, sold a new 1918 car to John Chaney over on the Lake. John says he is going to learn to drive the new car or know the reason why. Better be careful around the Lake, John, he might take a notion to take a bath.

—W. F. Auburn, a contractor of Lenox, Iowa, was here, several days, last week, the guest of James Pierpont Morgan Wilson. Mr. Auburn owns about 200 acres of land northeast of town, and was here looking over the farm and making arrangements for some one to handle it for him next year.

—Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Troxell and daughter were down from Craig, last Saturday, visiting with relatives and friends. While here, Mr. Troxell did some leveling for H. M. Spillman and the Morris Brothers, who are expecting to do some surface ditching on their farms this fall. Mr. Troxell is an old hand at the tiling business, having had several years' experience.

—There was a good sized crowd attended the joint meeting of Bigelow Camp, No. 35, and the Grove, at the W. O. W. Hall, last Saturday evening. Fortescue people turning out better than our home folks. More interest is being shown in lodge work, and both lodges are expecting quite a number of applications within the next thirty days. Come out and help push the wagon along.

—Guy Jones, the first of the week, received one of the highest priced and best thoroughbred Hereford bulls that ever came to this neighborhood. Mr. Jones purchased him at the American Royal Stock Show in Kansas City, last week, and this particular bull is two years old, the highest priced and the best bull that went through the ring at the show. Mr. Jones is making a specialty of thoroughbred Hereford cattle, and is getting the very best stuff that money can purchase.

—Week before last, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Notley, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Notley and Miss Ida Bridgman took a trip into Nebraska, in their Dodge car, visiting the state fair at Lincoln, and with Chas. Dorsey and family, near Adams, Neb., also visiting in Beatrice. During the trip they traveled about 500 miles, and enjoyed the outing very much. Mr. Notley says the state fair was extra good, and that the Nebraska roads are fine—wide enough for two tracks and the autos spin right along.

—Frank Walker and Superintendent S. W. Skelton drove over to New Point, where they attended a mass meeting of the citizens of that enterprising vicinity, last Saturday evening. The meeting was for the purpose of discussing a proposition of consolidating five of the neighboring school districts into a consolidated school district. Messrs. Walker and Skelton, being familiar with consolidated school work, were able to give the people over there facts that will assist them in the work a great deal.

—Hart Couts and Commodore Wilson have brought in to the post office some extra fine specimens of ear corn. Bart has the Yellow Dent variety, and Commodore, the Boone County White. These two varieties of corn are well filled, and the tip ends are filled out nicely with grains of corn. L. W. Notley has some yellow corn that is extra fine and the grains are so thick that the cob cannot be seen. A heavy frost visited this section of the neighborhood, last Friday night. Seventy-five per cent of the corn was out of the way of the frost, and it is pretty hard to say how much damage was done. We usually have a killing frost about the middle of September, and had the heavy frost come at that time this year, the damage would have been pretty hard to estimate.

—The executive board of the Holt County Sunday School Association met, at the call of the president, at Prof. Crouse's in Mound City, Sept. 29th. President Johnson looked over the field as the work was presented, and the subject of re-districting the county was considered in detail. A. O. Williams, the secretary who was elected, resigned the office, and Mrs. Katharine McNaull, of Maitland, was appointed to fill the vacancy. The department of management has not been filled. The effort of the county is now being formed on taking a big delegation to the state convention at Maryville in November. 150 Sunday school workers from Holt county should attend, is the opinion of the Sunday school leaders. Mrs. McNaull has many friends in this community who are more than glad to see her again secretary of the Holt county Sunday schools.

—Charley Woody Hinkle, third son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hinkle, was born on the old home place, west and south of Bigelow, December 28, 1891, and died October 7, 1917, aged 25 years, 9 months and 9 days. It seems sad indeed that in the bloom of manhood, one with such bright prospects and such noble ideals should be called from this life to the great life beyond, but Woody, as he was more familiarly known among his many friends, about five years ago met with what proved to be a serious accident for him, while riding a horse over his father's ranch, looking after the stock in South Dakota, the horse became unmanageable and threw him, his foot getting caught in one of the stirrups. He was dragged by the horse for about 15 minutes over the rough prairie, and the neighbors coming to his assistance was all that saved him from a violent death, they first thinking it would be necessary to shoot the horse in order to obtain Woody's release, but finally succeeded in stopping the horse. Woody, at that time, was confined to the house for about five months, complaining of pains in his left side and knee, but was finally able to get around, thinking that he would be himself once more in a short time, but sad to say he gradually grew worse and worse; thinking he had rheumatism, every remedy known to the medical fraternity was tried by his devoted parents, who never gave up hope. About one year after the accident, he came back to his old home and friends, to the home of his grandmother, Aunt Matt Hinkle, thinking the change would be beneficial, but fate seemed to be against him, as when the accident happened he was in perfect physical manhood, weighing 240 pounds, and stood 6 feet 1 inch tall, in possession of a wonderful constitution and an exceptionally strong mind. He seemed determined to again regain his health and battled for four long years, ever patient and considerate of the loved ones about him, doing their best to give him comfort and relief. Woody had been confined to his bed almost continuously for the past three years, and could not tell night from day, he having lost his sight some time ago; still he patiently suffered on, holding out hope for the better to the end. Woody attended the Bigelow schools and finished the ninth grade under Prof. A. O. Williams. About nine years ago the family moved to Camp Crook, S. D., where they owned and operated a large ranch, returning to Bigelow about three years ago. Funeral services were conducted from the Christian church in Bigelow, Tuesday morning, Oct. 9, by Rev. Karl Davis, of Craig, who took as his text, John 11:38, "Jesus Wept." The ostent in which Woody was held by the community in which he was born and raised (save the five years spent in South Dakota), was clearly exemplified by the constant care given and the unusually large crowd of friends and neighbors who gathered at the church to say a last fond good-bye. The remains were tenderly laid away by the side of his brother, Ralph, who preceded him September 15, 1915, in the Mt. Hope cemetery, in Mound City. The pall-bearers were his school-chums and playmates: Roscoe Wilson, George Borchers, Frank Wilson, Allen Notley, Howard Dodson and Owen Bridgman. Besides the entire neighborhood, he leaves to mourn his death, father, mother, one sister, Mary, and three brothers, Nick, Bland and Otto, all being at his bedside when he was called to the great beyond.

car, visiting the state fair at Lincoln, and with Chas. Dorsey and family, near Adams, Neb., also visiting in Beatrice. During the trip they traveled about 500 miles, and enjoyed the outing very much. Mr. Notley says the state fair was extra good, and that the Nebraska roads are fine—wide enough for two tracks and the autos spin right along.

—Frank Walker and Superintendent S. W. Skelton drove over to New Point, where they attended a mass meeting of the citizens of that enterprising vicinity, last Saturday evening. The meeting was for the purpose of discussing a proposition of consolidating five of the neighboring school districts into a consolidated school district. Messrs. Walker and Skelton, being familiar with consolidated school work, were able to give the people over there facts that will assist them in the work a great deal.

—Hart Couts and Commodore Wilson have brought in to the post office some extra fine specimens of ear corn. Bart has the Yellow Dent variety, and Commodore, the Boone County White. These two varieties of corn are well filled, and the tip ends are filled out nicely with grains of corn. L. W. Notley has some yellow corn that is extra fine and the grains are so thick that the cob cannot be seen. A heavy frost visited this section of the neighborhood, last Friday night. Seventy-five per cent of the corn was out of the way of the frost, and it is pretty hard to say how much damage was done. We usually have a killing frost about the middle of September, and had the heavy frost come at that time this year, the damage would have been pretty hard to estimate.

—The executive board of the Holt County Sunday School Association met, at the call of the president, at Prof. Crouse's in Mound City, Sept. 29th. President Johnson looked over the field as the work was presented, and the subject of re-districting the county was considered in detail. A. O. Williams, the secretary who was elected, resigned the office, and Mrs. Katharine McNaull, of Maitland, was appointed to fill the vacancy. The department of management has not been filled. The effort of the county is now being formed on taking a big delegation to the state convention at Maryville in November. 150 Sunday school workers from Holt county should attend, is the opinion of the Sunday school leaders. Mrs. McNaull has many friends in this community who are more than glad to see her again secretary of the Holt county Sunday schools.

—Charley Woody Hinkle, third son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hinkle, was born on the old home place, west and south of Bigelow, December 28, 1891, and died October 7, 1917, aged 25 years, 9 months and 9 days. It seems sad indeed that in the bloom of manhood, one with such bright prospects and such noble ideals should be called from this life to the great life beyond, but Woody, as he was more familiarly known among his many friends, about five years ago met with what proved to be a serious accident for him, while riding a horse over his father's ranch, looking after the stock in South Dakota, the horse became unmanageable and threw him, his foot getting caught in one of the stirrups. He was dragged by the horse for about 15 minutes over the rough prairie, and the neighbors coming to his assistance was all that saved him from a violent death, they first thinking it would be necessary to shoot the horse in order to obtain Woody's release, but finally succeeded in stopping the horse. Woody, at that time, was confined to the house for about five months, complaining of pains in his left side and knee, but was finally able to get around, thinking that he would be himself once more in a short time, but sad to say he gradually grew worse and worse; thinking he had rheumatism, every remedy known to the medical fraternity was tried by his devoted parents, who never gave up hope. About one year after the accident, he came back to his old home and friends, to the home of his grandmother, Aunt Matt Hinkle, thinking the change would be beneficial, but fate seemed to be against him, as when the accident happened he was in perfect physical manhood, weighing 240 pounds, and stood 6 feet 1 inch tall, in possession of a wonderful constitution and an exceptionally strong mind. He seemed determined to again regain his health and battled for four long years, ever patient and considerate of the loved ones about him, doing their best to give him comfort and relief. Woody had been confined to his bed almost continuously for the past three years, and could not tell night from day, he having lost his sight some time ago; still he patiently suffered on, holding out hope for the better to the end. Woody attended the Bigelow schools and finished the ninth grade under Prof. A. O. Williams. About nine years ago the family moved to Camp Crook, S. D., where they owned and operated a large ranch, returning to Bigelow about three years ago. Funeral services were conducted from the Christian church in Bigelow, Tuesday morning, Oct. 9, by Rev. Karl Davis, of Craig, who took as his text, John 11:38, "Jesus Wept." The ostent in which Woody was held by the community in which he was born and raised (save the five years spent in South Dakota), was clearly exemplified by the constant care given and the unusually large crowd of friends and neighbors who gathered at the church to say a last fond good-bye. The remains were tenderly laid away by the side of his brother, Ralph, who preceded him September 15, 1915, in the Mt. Hope cemetery, in Mound City. The pall-bearers were his school-chums and playmates: Roscoe Wilson, George Borchers, Frank Wilson, Allen Notley, Howard Dodson and Owen Bridgman. Besides the entire neighborhood, he leaves to mourn his death, father, mother, one sister, Mary, and three brothers, Nick, Bland and Otto, all being at his bedside when he was called to the great beyond.

car, visiting the state fair at Lincoln, and with Chas. Dorsey and family, near Adams, Neb., also visiting in Beatrice. During the trip they traveled about 500 miles, and enjoyed the outing very much. Mr. Notley says the state fair was extra good, and that the Nebraska roads are fine—wide enough for two tracks and the autos spin right along.

—Frank Walker and Superintendent S. W. Skelton drove over to New Point, where they attended a mass meeting of the citizens of that enterprising vicinity, last Saturday evening. The meeting was for the purpose of discussing a proposition of consolidating five of the neighboring school districts into a consolidated school district. Messrs. Walker and Skelton, being familiar with consolidated school work, were able to give the people over there facts that will assist them in the work a great deal.

—Hart Couts and Commodore Wilson have brought in to the post office some extra fine specimens of ear corn. Bart has the Yellow Dent variety, and Commodore, the Boone County White. These two varieties of corn are well filled, and the tip ends are filled out nicely with grains of corn. L. W. Notley has some yellow corn that is extra fine and the grains are so thick that the cob cannot be seen. A heavy frost visited this section of the neighborhood, last Friday night. Seventy-five per cent of the corn was out of the way of the frost, and it is pretty hard to say how much damage was done. We usually have a killing frost about the middle of September, and had the heavy frost come at that time this year, the damage would have been pretty hard to estimate.

—The executive board of the Holt County Sunday School Association met, at the call of the president, at Prof. Crouse's in Mound City, Sept. 29th. President Johnson looked over the field as the work was presented, and the subject of re-districting the county was considered in detail. A. O. Williams, the secretary who was elected, resigned the office, and Mrs. Katharine McNaull, of Maitland, was appointed to fill the vacancy. The department of management has not been filled. The effort of the county is now being formed on taking a big delegation to the state convention at Maryville in November. 150 Sunday school workers from Holt county should attend, is the opinion of the Sunday school leaders. Mrs. McNaull has many friends in this community who are more than glad to see her again secretary of the Holt county Sunday schools.

—Charley Woody Hinkle, third son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hinkle, was born on the old home place, west and south of Bigelow, December 28, 1891, and died October 7, 1917, aged 25 years, 9 months and 9 days. It seems sad indeed that in the bloom of manhood, one with such bright prospects and such noble ideals should be called from this life to the great life beyond, but Woody, as he was more familiarly known among his many friends, about five years ago met with what proved to be a serious accident for him, while riding a horse over his father's ranch, looking after the stock in South Dakota, the horse became unmanageable and threw him, his foot getting caught in one of the stirrups. He was dragged by the horse for about 15 minutes over the rough prairie, and the neighbors coming to his assistance was all that saved him from a violent death, they first thinking it would be necessary to shoot the horse in order to obtain Woody's release, but finally succeeded in stopping the horse. Woody, at that time, was confined to the house for about five months, complaining of pains in his left side and knee, but was finally able to get around, thinking that he would be himself once more in a short time, but sad to say he gradually grew worse and worse; thinking he had rheumatism, every remedy known to the medical fraternity was tried by his devoted parents, who never gave up hope. About one year after the accident, he came back to his old home and friends, to the home of his grandmother, Aunt Matt Hinkle, thinking the change would be beneficial, but fate seemed to be against him, as when the accident happened he was in perfect physical manhood, weighing 240 pounds, and stood 6 feet 1 inch tall, in possession of a wonderful constitution and an exceptionally strong mind. He seemed determined to again regain his health and battled for four long years, ever patient and considerate of the loved ones about him, doing their best to give him comfort and relief. Woody had been confined to his bed almost continuously for the past three years, and could not tell night from day, he having lost his sight some time ago; still he patiently suffered on, holding out hope for the better to the end. Woody attended the Bigelow schools and finished the ninth grade under Prof. A. O. Williams. About nine years ago the family moved to Camp Crook, S. D., where they owned and operated a large ranch, returning to Bigelow about three years ago. Funeral services were conducted from the Christian church in Bigelow, Tuesday morning, Oct. 9, by Rev. Karl Davis, of Craig, who took as his text, John 11:38, "Jesus Wept." The ostent in which Woody was held by the community in which he was born and raised (save the five years spent in South Dakota), was clearly exemplified by the constant care given and the unusually large crowd of friends and neighbors who gathered at the church to say a last fond good-bye. The remains were tenderly laid away by the side of his brother, Ralph, who preceded him September 15, 1915, in the Mt. Hope cemetery, in Mound City. The pall-bearers were his school-chums and playmates: Roscoe Wilson, George Borchers, Frank Wilson, Allen Notley, Howard Dodson and Owen Bridgman. Besides the entire neighborhood, he leaves to mourn his death, father, mother, one sister, Mary, and three brothers, Nick, Bland and Otto, all being at his bedside when he was called to the great beyond.

car, visiting the state fair at Lincoln, and with Chas. Dorsey and family, near Adams, Neb., also visiting in Beatrice. During the trip they traveled about 500 miles, and enjoyed the outing very much. Mr. Notley says the state fair was extra good, and that the Nebraska roads are fine—wide enough for two tracks and the autos spin right along.

—Frank Walker and Superintendent S. W. Skelton drove over to New Point, where they attended a mass meeting of the citizens of that enterprising vicinity, last Saturday evening. The meeting was for the purpose of discussing a proposition of consolidating five of the neighboring school districts into a consolidated school district. Messrs. Walker and Skelton, being familiar with consolidated school work, were able to give the people over there facts that will assist them in the work a great deal.

—Hart Couts and Commodore Wilson have brought in to the post office some extra fine specimens of ear corn. Bart has the Yellow Dent variety, and Commodore, the Boone County White. These two varieties of corn are well filled, and the tip ends are filled out nicely with grains of corn. L. W. Notley has some yellow corn that is extra fine and the grains are so thick that the cob cannot be seen. A heavy frost visited this section of the neighborhood, last Friday night. Seventy-five per cent of the corn was out of the way of the frost, and it is pretty hard to say how much damage was done. We usually have a killing frost about the middle of September, and had the heavy frost come at that time this year, the damage would have been pretty hard to estimate.

—The executive board of the Holt County Sunday School Association met, at the call of the president, at Prof. Crouse's in Mound City, Sept. 29th. President Johnson looked over the field as the work was presented, and the subject of re-districting the county was considered in detail. A. O. Williams, the secretary who was elected, resigned the office, and Mrs. Katharine McNaull, of Maitland, was appointed to fill the vacancy. The department of management has not been filled. The effort of the county is now being formed on taking a big delegation to the state convention at Maryville in November. 150 Sunday school workers from Holt county should attend, is the opinion of the Sunday school leaders. Mrs. McNaull has many friends in this community who are more than glad to see her again secretary of the Holt county Sunday schools.

—Charley Woody Hinkle, third son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hinkle, was born on the old home place, west and south of Bigelow, December 28, 1891, and died October 7, 1917, aged 25 years, 9 months and 9 days. It seems sad indeed that in the bloom of manhood, one with such bright prospects and such noble ideals should be called from this life to the great life beyond, but Woody, as he was more familiarly known among his many friends, about five years ago met with what proved to be a serious accident for him, while riding a horse over his father's ranch, looking after the stock in South Dakota, the horse became unmanageable and threw him, his foot getting caught in one of the stirrups. He was dragged by the horse for about 15 minutes over the rough prairie, and the neighbors coming to his assistance was all that saved him from a violent death, they first thinking it would be necessary to shoot the horse in order to obtain Woody's release, but finally succeeded in stopping the horse. Woody, at that time, was confined to the house for about five months, complaining of pains in his left side and knee, but was finally able to get around, thinking that he would be himself once more in a short time, but sad to say he gradually grew worse and worse; thinking he had rheumatism, every remedy known to the medical fraternity was tried by his devoted parents, who never gave up hope. About one year after the accident, he came back to his old home and friends, to the home of his grandmother, Aunt Matt Hinkle, thinking the change would be beneficial, but fate seemed to be against him, as when the accident happened he was in perfect physical manhood, weighing 240 pounds, and stood 6 feet 1 inch tall, in possession of a wonderful constitution and an exceptionally strong mind. He seemed determined to again regain his health and battled for four long years, ever patient and considerate of the loved ones about him, doing their best to give him comfort and relief. Woody had been confined to his bed almost continuously for the past three years, and could not tell night from day, he having lost his sight some time ago; still he patiently suffered on, holding out hope for the better to the end. Woody attended the Bigelow schools and finished the ninth grade under Prof. A. O. Williams. About nine years ago the family moved to Camp Crook, S. D., where they owned and operated a large ranch, returning to Bigelow about three years ago. Funeral services were conducted from the Christian church in Bigelow, Tuesday morning, Oct. 9, by Rev. Karl Davis, of Craig, who took as his text, John 11:38, "Jesus Wept." The ostent in which Woody was held by the community in which he was born and raised (save the five years spent in South Dakota), was clearly exemplified by the constant care given and the unusually large crowd of friends and neighbors who gathered at the church to say a last fond good-bye. The remains were tenderly laid away by the side of his brother, Ralph, who preceded him September 15, 1915, in the Mt. Hope cemetery, in Mound City. The pall-bearers were his school-chums and playmates: Roscoe Wilson, George Borchers, Frank Wilson, Allen Notley, Howard Dodson and Owen Bridgman. Besides the entire neighborhood, he leaves to mourn his death, father, mother, one sister, Mary, and three brothers, Nick, Bland and Otto, all being at his bedside when he was called to the great beyond.

car, visiting the state fair at Lincoln, and with Chas. Dorsey and family, near Adams, Neb., also visiting in Beatrice. During the trip they traveled about 500 miles, and enjoyed the outing very much. Mr. Notley says the state fair was extra good, and that the Nebraska roads are fine—wide enough for two tracks and the autos spin right along.

—Frank Walker and Superintendent S. W. Skelton drove over to New Point, where they attended a mass meeting of the citizens of that enterprising vicinity, last Saturday evening. The meeting was for the purpose of discussing a proposition of consolidating five of the neighboring school districts into a consolidated school district. Messrs. Walker and Skelton, being familiar with consolidated school work, were able to give the people over there facts that will assist them in the work a great deal.

—Hart Couts and Commodore Wilson have brought in to the post office some extra fine specimens of ear corn. Bart has the Yellow Dent variety, and Commodore, the Boone County White. These two varieties of corn are well filled, and the tip ends are filled out nicely with grains of corn. L. W. Notley has some yellow corn that is extra fine and the grains are so thick that the cob cannot be seen. A heavy frost visited this section of the neighborhood, last Friday night. Seventy-five per cent of the corn was out of the way of the frost, and it is pretty hard to say how much damage was done. We usually have a killing frost about the middle of September, and had the heavy frost come at that time this year, the damage would have been pretty hard to estimate.

—The executive board of the Holt County Sunday School Association met, at the call of the president, at Prof. Crouse's in Mound City, Sept. 29th. President Johnson looked over the field as the work was presented, and the subject of re-districting the county was considered in detail. A. O. Williams, the secretary who was elected, resigned the office, and Mrs. Katharine McNaull, of Maitland, was appointed to fill the vacancy. The department of management has not been filled. The effort of the county is now being formed on taking a big delegation to the state convention at Maryville in November. 150 Sunday school workers from Holt county should attend, is the opinion of the Sunday school leaders. Mrs. McNaull has many friends in this community who are more than glad to see her again secretary of the Holt county Sunday schools.

—Charley Woody Hinkle, third son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hinkle, was born on the old home place, west and south of Bigelow, December 28, 1891, and died October 7, 1917, aged 25 years, 9 months and 9 days. It seems sad indeed that in the bloom of manhood, one with such bright prospects and such noble ideals should be called from this life to the great life beyond, but Woody, as he was more familiarly known among his many friends, about five years ago met with what proved to be a serious accident for him, while riding a horse over his father's ranch, looking after the stock in South Dakota, the horse became unmanageable and threw him, his foot getting caught in one of the stirrups. He was dragged by the horse for about 15 minutes over the rough prairie, and the neighbors coming to his assistance was all that saved him from a violent death, they first thinking it would be necessary to shoot the horse in order to obtain Woody's release, but finally succeeded in stopping the horse. Woody, at that time, was confined to the house for about five months, complaining of pains in his left side and knee, but was finally able to get around, thinking that he would be himself once more in a short time, but sad to say he gradually grew worse and worse; thinking he had rheumatism, every remedy known to the medical fraternity was tried by his devoted parents, who never gave up hope. About one year after the accident, he came back to his old home and friends, to the home of his grandmother, Aunt Matt Hinkle, thinking the change would be beneficial, but fate seemed to be against him, as when the accident happened he was in perfect physical manhood, weighing 240 pounds, and stood 6 feet 1 inch tall, in possession of a wonderful constitution and an exceptionally strong mind. He seemed determined to again regain his health and battled for four long years, ever patient and considerate of the loved ones about him, doing their best to give him comfort and relief. Woody had been confined to his bed almost continuously for the past three years, and could not tell night from day, he having lost his sight some time ago; still he patiently suffered on, holding out hope for the better to the end. Woody attended the Bigelow schools and finished the ninth grade under Prof. A. O. Williams. About nine years ago the family moved to Camp Crook, S. D., where they owned and operated a large ranch, returning to Bigelow about three years ago. Funeral services were conducted from the Christian church in Bigelow, Tuesday morning, Oct. 9, by Rev. Karl Davis, of Craig, who took as his text, John 11:38, "Jesus Wept." The ostent in which Woody was held by the community in which he was born and raised (save the five years spent in South Dakota), was clearly exemplified by the constant care given and the unusually large crowd of friends and neighbors who gathered at the church to say a last fond good-bye. The remains were tenderly laid away by the side of his brother, Ralph, who preceded him September 15, 1915, in the Mt. Hope cemetery, in Mound City. The pall-bearers were his school-chums and playmates: Roscoe Wilson, George Borchers, Frank Wilson, Allen Notley, Howard Dodson and Owen Bridgman. Besides the entire neighborhood, he leaves to mourn his death, father, mother, one sister, Mary, and three brothers, Nick, Bland and Otto, all being at his bedside when he was called to the great beyond.

car, visiting the state fair at Lincoln, and with Chas. Dorsey and family, near Adams, Neb., also visiting in Beatrice. During the trip they traveled about 500 miles, and enjoyed the outing very much. Mr. Notley says the state fair was extra good, and that the Nebraska roads are fine—wide enough for two tracks and the autos spin right along.

—Frank Walker and Superintendent S. W. Skelton drove over to New Point, where they attended a mass meeting of the citizens of that enterprising vicinity, last Saturday evening. The meeting was for the purpose of discussing a proposition of consolidating five of the neighboring school districts into a consolidated school district. Messrs. Walker and Skelton, being familiar with consolidated school work, were able to give the people over there facts that will assist them in the work a great deal.

—Hart Couts and Commodore Wilson have brought in to the post office some extra fine specimens of ear corn. Bart has the Yellow Dent variety, and Commodore, the Boone County White. These